

Ranger

Age: 7 years

Sex: Male

Weight: 80 pounds

Breed: Doberman Pinscher

Personality

Ranger is a social, easygoing Doberman who gets along well with people, kids, and other dogs. He has lived with a male Labrador and is currently fostered with both a male Lab and a female Doberman.

He is good on leash, has strong recall, and enjoys being part of the action. Friendly and steady, he's an easy dog to live with when his basic needs are met.

Health & Comfort

Ranger is a healthy senior Doberman with a few manageable, age-related considerations. He has mild arthritis, managed with daily supplements, and a few benign lumps that are not causing concern.

He benefits from structure, especially around food and high-value items with other dogs, and can be competitive for space or attention at times. These are typical, manageable behaviors that improve with training and consistency.

Ideal Home

Ranger is a solid, social dog who doesn't need perfection - just clear expectations, consistency, and a home that understands how Dobermans think. In the right setup, he's an easy dog to live with and a great companion.

A great match for him would be:

- A rural or quieter home
- Continued training and structure
- Someone who is home most of the day
- Another balanced dog - ideally a female Doberman - to help model behavior

The Doberman Pinscher is an intelligent, people-oriented breed that does best with structure and consistency. Ranger is no exception.
